

Rossana Rivas Tarazona

Position nominated for:
IFMBE Clinical Engineering
Division (CED) Board
Member

APBIO - Founder member

Consultant-WHO
Collaborating Center for Health Technology
Management, UVM, US

Professional Achievement

- Member of WHO Collaborating Center for HTM, at UVM, USA: Faculty of HTA capacity building projects in LATAM: public Health: NIH, MoH and private healthcare enterprise.
- Health Technology Management & Planning PAHO-Online Courses Faculty: 2006-2021. Courses have been attended by more than 1,000 health professionals from MoH of 39 countries. Course's languages: English, Spanish and French
- Member of the commission which designed the undergraduate Biomedical Eng. program led by 2 universities, a unique program in Peru
- Researcher with 2 published books (edited by PAHO Washington DC and Elsevier respectively) and a number of global scientific publications.
- Member of the Health Technology Commission of the College of Engineers of Peru; leading the institutional collaboration between the College of Engineers of Peru and the Medical College of Peru to contribute to improve healthcare in the country since 2019 to present.

Societal Contribution

- APBIO-Peruvian Bioengineering Society Founder member
- Hacking Corona virus Team-member
- HTAD and CED, IFMBE member
- American College of Clinical Engineers member
- HT Committee-Colegio de Ingenieros del Perú-member
- Health Technopole in Peru-Founder & Executive Director

Honours and Awards

- "American College of Clinical Engineering-ACCE & ORBIS International Award", US
- "Best Practices of Science, Technology Park Development and Management & Countries Presentations Award" from World Technopolis Association-WTA International Training Workshop on Science & Technology Park and Regional Innovation Platform. Daejeon, South Korea.
- Applied Research funding received from: Service de Coopération Universitaire et Scientifique-France; Service de Coopération Universitaire-Belgique; Science, Policy & Capacity Building Division-Partnership Unit-UNESCO-France.